

Global Environment Policy

Cushman & Wakefield is committed to be a responsible steward of the environment. We continue to seek to identify all environmental risks and opportunities associated with our business including climate change and resource depletion. We are committed to conducting our operations and delivering our products and services with the highest standard of environmental care and social responsibility. To this end, we are committed to a sustainable future, achieving a balance between environmental, technological, economic and social objectives.

Specifically, Cushman & Wakefield is committed to:

- reducing the impact of buildings on global greenhouse gas emissions. Calculating and disclosing our carbon footprint from corporate operations, benchmarking our performance and setting carbon reduction goals.
- undertaking our operations and delivering products and services in a manner consistent with, local and regional business requirements and where appropriate the international standard for Environmental Management Systems, ISO 14001.
- conducting assessments of environmental aspects and impacts, as well as setting objectives and targets, to reduce waste and impacts on the environment, prevent pollution, conserve natural resources, protect cultural heritage, and drive energy efficiency.
- ensuring our operations, products and services comply with applicable legal and other compliance requirements.
- providing appropriate education and training, particularly for our employees with environmental responsibilities, to ensure we meet our environmental objectives and targets.
- making continual improvements in environmental performance, with the aim of protecting the environment.

Communicating our environmental performance to our employees, customers, suppliers, contractors and the and the community. We recognize that each employee, subcontractor and supplier has a role to play in protecting environmental quality. Therefore, to achieve our commitments, and ensure the effectiveness and success of our approach to environmental sustainability, Cushman & Wakefield shall:

- demand the involvement of all employees, subcontractors and suppliers.
- establish work practices, and conduct monitoring and evaluation, to ensure environmental objectives and targets are achieved
- require suppliers and subcontractors to operate in an environmentally responsible manner and adhere to relevant environmental standards
- regularly review performance, and identify and implement corrective and preventative actions, so as to promote continual improvement in the environmental performance of our operations, products and services
- actively provide for, encourage, and support education and training on environmental and sustainability issues.

In an effort to deepen our understanding, Cushman & Wakefield also engages with environmental advocates. Listening to the voices representing environmental issues permits us to form a more robust and meaningful environmental strategy.

John Forrester
President
Cushman & Wakefield
August 2020
Next review due: August 31, 2021