BOOTH NEIGHBOURHOOD PLAN (BYLAW NO. 6008)

Booth is a neighborhood within the Brookwood-Fernridge community in the Township of Langley. The Booth Neighbourhood Plan aims to ensure a high quality of life for residents, business owners, and employees by providing diverse housing options, local commerce, recreational opportunities, and public and natural spaces that support the physical and social environments where people live, learn, work, and play.

Covering 270 hectares (668 acres) in the mid-western area of Brookwood-Fernridge, the Booth Neighbourhood Plan area is bordered by 196 Street to the west, 33A and 36 Avenue to the north, 206 and 204 Street to the east, and 28 Avenue to the south. Major roads include 200 Street and 32 Avenue, with green spaces such as Noel Booth Park, Dale Ball Park, and Anderson Creek.

The plan envisions a complete community with an integrated system where built and natural elements are closely connected. By balancing social, economic, and environmental needs, Booth allows people of all ages and abilities to live, work, shop, learn, and play locally. Identified as a “small-town” neighborhood, Booth’s character is defined by its natural and built environments, including unique subdivision and lot patterns, thoughtfully placed buildings, and the presence of street trees and landscaping features.

LAND USE DESIGNATION: ROWHOUSES/TOWNHOUSES

The Rowhouse/Townhouse designation accommodates rowhouse and townhouse development. This designation is located within and in proximity to the Booth Town Centre. It provides for ground-oriented housing to accommodate households with children, seniors and “empty-nesters”. It is situated adjacent to schools and parks, urban greenways, local-serving commercial uses, future transit, and other destinations, and provides a land use, form and massing transition between higher and lower density uses. Under this designation a maximum of 20 units per acre are allowed.
